John F. Kennedy Library Collection Drive Begins

The Daily Universe and the Spurs and IX's service units are sponsoring a collection drive for the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Library located on the banks of the Charles River in Boston, Mass. according to Pat Marotto, chairman. The site was selected by the President, himself eight weeks before his death.

Colleges throughout the entire United States are sponsoring similar drives on their campuses. The National Student Committee, composed entirely of students, is in charge of the National Drive. They hope to raise $250,000 to be used in the construction of a room in the library to be donated by the students.

More than any other president, John F. Kennedy was the symbol of America's youth. His freshness, his idealism, his interest in youth and education identified him with students in colleges throughout the world, and bound him to the young people he symbolized.

Thus the young people wanted to do something to keep his memory and spirit alive. The John Fitzgerald Kennedy Library is such a monument to his administration and a special tribute to him.

As well as containing a museum of President Kennedy's notable papers and manuscripts, the Library will add a new and unique dimension. It will also contain all available tapes and films of him, first as Senator from Massachusetts, then as a candidate, and later as President. These films and tapes, along with taped interviews with those who knew him best, will comprise a Living Library of the man.

The Library is envisioned as comprising three working components, a museum, an archive, and an institute. It will be, primarily, a memorial to the 35th President. But it will be more than simply a monument, its concept being to express President Kennedy's vivid concern, for his country and the world.

Students will have a real part in the construction of this great tribute to our President by contributing what they can said Mr. Marotto. Booths will be located in the Eyring Science Center and the south end of the Clark Library to collect voluntary contributions.

John F. Kennedy Library to honor the 35th President.

Non-Military Aid Sought By Rusk

THE HAGUE (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk, here for a three-day meeting of NATO foreign ministers, will deliver a sharp dressing down to America's Allies for trading with Cuba and will appeal for non-military aid in South Viet Nam. Sources here will hit these two hard and also warn that quarrels in the Communist camp should not induce the free West to lower its guard.

Injured in a car accident was Susan Louise Calder, left, Malinda Jane Clark and Richard Alan Flower, right, were killed Saturday when their car hit an oil rig on Green River Bridge 12 miles from Vernal, Utah.

Crash Claims Two Lives; Seriously Injures Another

Funeral arrangements are pending on a Mother's Day Weekend tragedy in three homes. Two BYU students died and a third was seriously injured when in their car crashed into the back of an oil rig on Green River Bridge, 12 miles east of Vernal.

According to State Patrolman Raymond Herrington, the accident occurred at 5:10 a.m. Saturday. Malinda Jane Clark, 20, from Meeker, Colo., was driving the 1957 Oldsmobile. Owner Richard Alan Flower, 22, Mr. Vernon, was in the front seat beside her.

SERIOUSLY INJURED Susan Louise Calder, 20, of Craig, Colo., was in the back seat.

The car was traveling between 50 and 60 miles an hour east on U.S. Highway 40 when it ran into the rear of a drilling rig going about 10 miles an hour.

"It was like throwing a bee-bee against a baseball bat," described Officer Herrington. The rig weighed about 9,000 lbs., he said, and the car's motor was crushed into about 12 inches space. "The kids were just buried inside."

It was light then and the weather was clear. "Apparently they were just tired," said Officer Herrington. Vernal is approximately three hours drive from Provo and Friday was Junior Prom night.

Driver of the rig, Charles E. Rathmann, "thought he had a flat tire," according to Officer Herrington. He was apparently issued a citation for moving the rig on a weekend.

The students were thought to be on their way home for the weekend. Miss Clark is a freshman in business education, Mr. Flower is listed as a freshman in electrical engineering.

Miss Calder, treated in the Utah County Hospital, was transferred to Holy Cross in Salt Lake City where she is described as being in serious condition with multiple fractures of the pelvis and possibly a skull fracture. No visitors are being permitted.

The two deaths bring Utah's traffic toll to 75, an even dozen more than had been killed on the same date last year.

Girls To Help Whitewash Y

by Kathy Cheney
Y Day Editor
Yep, girls will be working along with the boys on Y Mountain this year for Y Day. This is one aspect of the day which needs to have a serious tone given to it. According to the Y Day committee extra safety precautions will be taken.

THERE WILL be no cars allowed on the mountain and buses will provide transportation. It is stressed that time can be very dangerous, especially when it works its way into open sores or into eyes.

BECAUSE OF THE dangers of getting hurt on the mountain, high degrees of discipline will be taken. If any girl is hurt, coeds won't go up on the "Y" again, said chairman Karen Johnson.

Daily Universe Wins Honors Conference

The Daily Universe, for the year in a row, was named best daily newspaper in the United Mountain Collegiate Press Association at the annual conference held on the campus this weekend followed by the Colorado "Collegian."

University of Wyoming's Brandon was named best of the newly papers followed by Idaho State University's The Bengali.

able mention went to The Eastern New Mexico University, and El Arriate, New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology.

ST MAGAZINE in the group the Mosale from Colorado University followed by BYU. Wye, Honorable mention to the Scribner, Weber College.

schools with more than enrollment, Denver University's Kynewick was named a yearbook. Colorado State's The Spruce placed second and honorable mention went to the University of Utah, and the University of Arizona State, BYU's Sun, and Buzzer (Utah State University).

Presenting papers at the annual meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers Monday will be by Leslie Youd, right and Vernon Anderson. BYU is host of the student chapter meet.

Civil Engineers To Host Annual Four-Day Meet

BYU's chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers will host student chapters from universities in Utah, Nevada, Arizona and California Monday at the annual meeting of the Pacific Southwest Conference of ASCE Student Chapters.

Highlighting the conference will be an address by former engineer George D. Clyde, governor of Utah and a student paper contest.

REPRESENTING BYU will be Leslie Youd, a fifth-year civil engineering student from Spanish Fork, with a paper on "Expansive Pressures in Soils Due to Hydrates," and Vernon Anderson, also a fifth-year engineering student from Springville, with a paper on "Curability of Concrete by Fatigue Methods."

Last year entries from BYU took first, third and fifth in the contest.

MONDAY IS also the beginning of a four-day conference on National Environmental Engineering which will attract more than 1000 engineers to Salt Lake City.

Glenn L. Enke, civil engineering professor at BYU, will chair the conference and discuss earthquake design for environmental control. Dr. Cliff S. Barton, chairman of the Civil Engineering Dept., will also present a paper.

THE GROUP will tour the campus Tuesday and be hosted by Acting President Earl C. Crockett and Chancellor Harvey L. Taylor at a banquet. Speaker will be Elder Harold B. Lee, representing the Board of Trustees.

The engineers will be entertained by the International Folk Dancers and selections from "Rigoletto," among other numbers furnished by the College of Fine Arts and Physical Education.

NO HARM DONE?

Fortunately the mature BYU students who put soap in the Smoot Fountain Friday did not injure the plants. There are "loads and loads of water-lilies in full-bloom" waiting in the greenhouse, pink, yellow and red. Because of the weather they were not put out, according to Carl Morrison of Grounds and Maintenance. Draining the pool and examining the pumps for damage is an all-day job.

New Catalog Available; Many Changes Included

The 1964-66 BYU catalog, including some important changes, is now available at the BYU Bookstore, according to Ernest L. Olsen, Chairman of the office of University Publications.

Cost is $1, twice the price of the old catalog.

"THE INCREASED cost of production forced us to raise the price," explained Mr. Olsen. The cost of printing alone (excluding other handling, etc.) on the 1962-64 catalog was 85 cents. With 35,000 books being printed it was an expense which the University could not allow to continue. "Even at $1, we'll lose money," he added.

The entire catalog was printed and bound at BYU Press this year instead of at the Deseret News Press. Mr. Olsen believes that while it took a little longer to do at BYU, the finished product is of finer quality than the catalogs of past years.

THERE ARE 30 more pages in the new edition than the last. Better grade of paper was used. Pictures were added throughout the new edition.

The most important change is the change of the College of Fine Arts to the College of Fine Arts and Communications.

THE DEPARTMENT OF Animal Husbandry and Science has become the Department of Animal Science. The Department of Agriculture is now the Department of Agricultural Education.

A new department is the Department of Family Life Education including home development and family relationships, and home making education. A Russian Studies program has been added in the College of Humanities.

RECREATION has become Religious Education, and the Technical and Semi-professional Institute is now simply the Technical Institute.

One interesting change to watch will be in the College of Religious Instruction, Philosophy, explaining many athletic views, is grouped under a special heading, though still in the Religion College.

CHANGE submitted just in time to be published was the availability of degrees in the Fine Arts. Now a student can obtain Bachelor's and Master's of Fine Arts Degrees.

The demand for the BYU Catalogs is increasing at a tremendous rate. Thirty-five thousand copies of the last edition weren't enough. This year 45,000 copies will be printed of the new catalog.

ALREADY WORK is underway on the 1969-70 Catalog. Now the mistakes are being found and eliminated (such as including Greenland as part of Canada). In the fall of 1968 the work will be speeded up with information beginning to come in from the many varied departments on campus.

About Dec. 1 the copy will be sent to the press. Feb. 1, 1969 the presses will begin the roll.

Mr. Olsen stated that while he felt that this catalog ranks with the finest ever published by BYU there are a few things that should be changed. "The whole thing could be written in simpler, less formal language to make it easier to understand, but that would be an awful job."

EVEN SO, the catalog is designed with students in mind. The calendar, admission standards, services, etc. are in the front, with less vital items closer to the back. Copies are available at BYU Bookstore.

Exemption Testing Will Begin Tuesday

The History 170 Exemption Test will be given Tuesday through Thursday in B-228 Smoot Administration Bldg. at 1:30 and 3:30 p.m., according to Nolan Ashman of Testing Service.

Surprise Guest At Hootenany

Will it be the Letterman, the Brothers Four, Ricky Nelson or maybe the Beatles? Who knows? No one does except certain members of the X Day committee. The only way to find out who the special guest will be is to attend the Hootenany.

DURING THE middle of the Hootenany, which starts at 1 p.m., our special guest stars will "pop" out of the huge box which will decorate the event.

Due to a change in plans, the Hootenany and all afternoon activities have been switched to Timp Park. This includes the lunch which was previously to take place on the Holman Halls Field. Timp Park is on 5th West near the Pioneer Museum.

Western Wear To Be Modeled By Guys, Dolls

Remember the days when Western fashions meant a pair of buckskin trousers and a buffalo hide vest? Well neither do the models for Monday's Western Week Fashion Show.

Contrary to popular beliefs, western wear today includes more than just a pair of well-worn Levi's and a pair of cowboy boots. The Clothing and Textiles dept. cooperating with the Arizona Club will present a Western fashion show Monday at 8 p.m. in the Smith Family Living Center.

The show is in skirt form according to Irene Harding, chairman of the event. "The Magnificent Seven," a slapstick comedy sketch written by Doug Stewart and narrated by Doug Stewart and Joan Shaw will include thirty costumes of everyday and formal western wear modeled by the Arizona Club members. There will also be Indian Students from the Tribe of Many Feathers to show off their native costumes.
